

The Bulletin

Norwich, Monday, Sept. 11, 1923.

THE WEATHER
Conditions: The pressure fell during Sunday throughout the eastern states. The temperature has changed little. In the New England states the weather will be unsettled with showers and probably thunder storms Monday with lower temperature by Monday night and cloudy and cooler on Tuesday, with probably showers Tuesday evening.
Winds: North of Sandy Hook, moderate southerly shifting to northerly by Monday night; Thursday showers and cooler.
Sandy Hook to Flatterack, moderate southerly shifting to northerly by Monday night; Thursday showers and cooler.
For Southern New England, cloudy followed by showers Monday; cooler by Monday night; Thursday showers and cooler.

Observations in Norwich
The Bulletin's observations show the barometric changes in temperature and barometric changes Saturday and Sunday.

	Sat.	Sun.
Bar.	30.00	30.00
Ther.	65	65
Hum.	72	72
Wind	W	W
Clouds	100	100
High	72	72
Low	65	65

Prediction for Saturday: Fair and warmer.
Sunday: Fair, cloudy.
Monday: Fair, cloudy.
Tuesday: Fair, cloudy.
Wednesday: Fair, cloudy.
Thursday: Fair, cloudy.
Friday: Fair, cloudy.

	Sat.	Sun.
Bar.	30.00	30.00
Ther.	65	65
Hum.	72	72
Wind	W	W
Clouds	100	100
High	72	72
Low	65	65

TAFVILLE

One of the largest private social affairs of the city fall season was held Saturday evening in the Casino when the Lafayette club entertained members and their friends at a banquet, followed by a dance. The hall was most attractively decorated with American and French flags, and there were cut flowers on the tables. Covers were laid for 120, and the presidents of the various Franco-American societies of the village and their wives were guests of honor. President Arthur Quimet acted as toastmaster and the speaker of the evening was David Lambert, president of the St. Louis society. He outlined the life and work of the Marquis de Lafayette, who, although being a member of the nobility, espoused the cause of republicanism and pledged his sword in the aid of the American colonies who were struggling to throw off the yoke of their mother country. Lambert paid tribute to the sterling qualities and enthusiasm of this heroic young aide to General Washington and old of how through his influence France, then one of the mighty powers of Europe, drew her weight in the struggle on the American side, bringing the banquet to a close with a splendid display of fireworks. The carnival given by the Fire company No. 2 in Parish hall Saturday evening drew a record breaking crowd. The booths were all well patronized and there was dancing for which the Imperial orchestra furnished the music. The fire company was organized by real estate owners and merchants of Merchants' avenue, Hunter avenue, Pratt avenue, and school street and has been incorporated. The members of this corporation have decided to enlarge their firehouse, which has become too small for their needs, as in case of large attendance the chemical, ladder truck and other fire apparatus had to be placed outside in order to avoid trouble. The new building, which is being enlarged from size of 12x12 feet, one floor, to 24x19 feet, two floors. The estimated cost is to be about $12,000. The work is progressing very satisfactorily, considering the fact that the entire work is being done by the incorporators, who have volunteered to give all their leisure time to the project. The supervision of Chief Arthur Janette and First Assistant Chief Joseph Caron. The proceeds from the carnival are to be used to meet the cost of the new building. The members of the corporation are anxious to get the building a certainty, but so far the entire cost of the building and fire apparatus has been raised by contributions from the members themselves and from the public. Several substantial cash donations have been received from entering residents of the village, with the request that their names be withheld. The members of the corporation are anxious to get the building a certainty, but so far the entire cost of the building and fire apparatus has been raised by contributions from the members themselves and from the public. Several substantial cash donations have been received from entering residents of the village, with the request that their names be withheld.

The Taffville Congregational church opened Sunday morning after having been closed during July and August. Rev. Selden H. Smith, who was the pastor at the morning service, and the evening service was omitted. It was announced that Rev. Edwin Crowder of Southamptown, Mass., who has been called to occupy the pulpit of the church, has accepted the call and will enter upon his new duties as soon as can be arranged. The Sunday school opened, also with a large attendance, and no shortage of teachers, as has been the case in former years. Plans were discussed for the observance of Rally day, which is the annual opening day of the Sunday school, and which falls this year on the first Sunday in October.

The Norwich Rotary club has erected a new building on the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

the corner of

CLOUDY, FOLLOWED BY SHOWERS TONIGHT

Norwich

Bulletin

NORWICH, CONN., MONDAY, SEPT. 11, 1923.

RICHEST KNOWN FOOD ELEMENTS

IS BASIS OF FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Doctors have definitely proved that cod liver oil, which has always been one of the chief elements of Father John's Medicine, is the richest known source of the body building vitamin (Vitamin A). This food body-building vitamin is scientifically combined with other ingredients so that its nourishment is easily taken up even by a weakened system.

Father John's Medicine strengthens and nourishes children who are backward in growth.

It builds new tissue and enriches the blood. It is ideally suited to people who are weak and run down or to those who are suffering from lack of nourishment. All pure food. Start taking it today.

JEPHATH G. BILL, 99, GREETED FRIENDS THROUGH THE COURIER

At Genoa Junction, Wis., under date of Sept. 8, 1923, Jephath G. Bill, of Griswold, Conn., writes to the following:

Dear Norwich Courier: Yesterday I attained to my 99th birthday. Through your columns I send greetings to my eastern friends and I wish to tell them that I feel fine; go to the post office every day, read the old Courier as it comes to me semi-weekly; went to the polls last Tuesday and cast a full-blinded, dyed-in-the-wool republican vote at our primary election and I will be on hand next November to make it good.

They are putting in here a system of water and sewerage; I take interest in watching its construction. My sons' family party does not copy all my birthday; several very old people were present. I have a pal here (George Seaman) pioneer, who came here from New York state in the early forties. He is nine months younger than I am. Once each year we are the same age. We have lots of fun talking over "the days that are gone." My mother, Mary, is in the past I remain.

Sincerely yours, JEPHATH G. BILL.

Mr. Bill went several years ago to visit his grandson, Dr. J. J. Bill, at Genoa Junction, and there he has received many friends throughout eastern Connecticut, and with pleasure of his birthday dinner and his good health to enjoy the celebration.

At St. Patrick's church, the Rev. Michael H. May, announced Sunday that, beginning Sunday next, there is to be a special mass for the large number of Italians in the parish. This service will be held every Sunday at 8 o'clock, in the basement chapel, by the assistant pastor, Rev. Francis J. Guerriero. It is to be followed by Sunday school for all the Italian children. The Italians will have a sermon in their own language by Father Guerriero, who although a native of Hartford, speaks Italian fluently.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one can advance in the Christian life who does not copy all his life upon the example of Christ, the Redeemer, who, when reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate; who, when he was reviled, did not retaliate.

Following the summer suspension, high mass at 10:30 was resumed at St. Patrick's church, being sung by Rev. Michael H. May. Rev. Francis Guerriero was the preacher, his text being Matthew 6, 24-26, the latter beginning "No man can serve two masters." Father Guerriero considered briefly and directly the three cardinal virtues of Christianity: faith, hope, and charity, and the reasons why no one